Introduction

 This story takes place in San Francisco and in Bodega Bay. San Francisco is a beautiful city on the Pacific Coast in the State of California. Bodega Bay is a small town on the coast, north of San Francisco. The story talks about a big marine sanctuary <sup>1</sup> called the Gulf of the Farallones National Marine Sanctuary, twenty-seven miles west of San Francisco and the Point Reyes National Seashore, which is another protected area.

San Francisco

San Francisco is one of America's most beautiful and exciting cities. It is an international center for business, education, science and the arts. The city is famous for its hills: it was built on 43 hills and you can always get great views of the bay. The main tourist attractions are the Golden Gate Bridge, Alcatraz Island, Telegraph Hill and Fisherman's Wharf. Around 800,000 people live in the city today.

1. sanctuary : a place where animals are protected from danger.

The Farallones National Marine Sanctuary and Point Reyes

The Farallones National Marine Sanctuary is one of the thirteen marine sanctuaries in the United States. There are seven groups of islands and it is home to whales, dolphins, great white sharks, sea lions and sea birds. Tourists can't go onto the islands but they can see them from boats: only scientists can go on the islands.

Point Reyes National Seashore is part of the Farallones National Marine Sanctuary. It was set up in 1962 to protect all kinds of sea life, plants and trees. Visitors can walk along the long beach and watch whales and dolphins swim by.

Bodega Bay

Bodega Bay is a small town on the Pacific Coast about 40 miles northwest of San Francisco. The bay was discovered in 1775 by Peruvian explorer Juan Francisco de la Bodega y Quadra. About 2,000 people live there today. The town was the setting for Alfred Hitchcock's film, The Birds, in 1963. It is well-known for its long sandy beaches and its protected harbor.

CHAPTER ONE

K The Story of the Ghost Ship

Kate and Mike Sullivan live in San Francisco with their parents and their pet dog, Lucky. Their home is on Russian Hill and from their house Kate and Mike have a great view of San Francisco Bay and the Golden Gate Bridge. Their father, Frank Sullivan, is a professor and teaches marine biology <sup>1</sup> at San Francisco University. Their mother, Liz Sullivan, works in a big bookshop in the city center.

Kate is fourteen and her brother Mike is fifteen. Kate goes to Lincoln Middle School and Mike goes to Galileo High School. Kate is a pretty girl with long blonde hair and blue eyes. She likes school, but doesn't like math. She loves dancing and belongs to the Lincoln Dance Club. She is a very good dancer and wants to become a professional dancer one day.

1. marine biology : this science studies life in the sea.

The Story of the Ghost Ship

Mike is tall with brown hair and blue eyes. He is in his first year of high school and he always has a lot of homework. He is an excellent swimmer and is a member of the Galileo High School swimming team.

Our story begins on a sunny Monday morning early in June.

“Half past seven!” said Kate, putting on her watch, “time for breakfast.”

“Two more weeks and school is over,” said Mike happily.

“Summer vacation – the best time of the year,” said Kate laughing. Kate was also excited because after the summer she was going to start high school.

“Good morning,” said Mrs Sullivan, who was preparing breakfast. “Kate, remember you have an eye doctor’s appointment today after school with Dr Lee. Please don’t be late.”

“I know, Mom,” said Kate. “But I don’t want to go, I don’t want to wear glasses.”

“Kate, you can’t study well at school; you need a pair of glasses. If you don’t get them, your eyesight will get worse,” said Mr Sullivan, drinking a cup of coffee. “There’s nothing wrong with glasses. I wear them. A lot of kids wear them.”

“Susan García in my class just got glasses,” said Mike, “and she looks better with glasses than without them.”

Kate slowly ate her breakfast and said, “OK, OK, I’ll wear them to see the board.”

Suddenly there was a knock on the door. It was Julie Bennett, Kate’s best friend.

“Hi,” said Julie, a pretty fourteen-year-old girl with short black hair. “I came to pick you up so we can walk to school together.”

“Hi, Julie,” said Kate. “I’m still having breakfast. Just sit down and have some cookies.”

The Lost Treasure of Bodega Bay

“Hi, Julie,” said Mrs Sullivan, as she turned on the television to watch the weather report and the morning news.

“Another warm sunny day in San Francisco,” said the speaker, “with heavy afternoon fog along the Pacific coast, particularly in the Bodega Bay area...”

END

“It’s always foggy in Bodega Bay,” said Mike. “Do you remember our adventure up there?”

“When did you go to Bodega Bay?” asked Julie, eating a cookie.

“It was about eighteen months ago,” said Kate, “and Carlos Gomez came with us. We had quite an adventure.”

“Sounds exciting,” said Julie. “Tell me about it.”

Kate looked at Mike and her parents and they all started laughing.

“Well, Mom and I have to go to work,” said Mr Sullivan. “It’s getting late. See you this evening. Bye.”

“OK, let me tell you about it,” said Kate, looking at her watch. “Mom, Dad, Mike, Carlos and I went to the Farallon Islands on Dad’s new boat, The Pelican. He was studying the sea birds and the fish in the area. We were all excited about the trip. But the first night I saw the ghost of a boy near my bed. I screamed <sup>2</sup> and was scared, but no one believed me. Then one night Mom and Dad heard a ship’s bell and saw a yellow light at sea. They thought someone needed help so they took the lifeboat and left The Pelican. The next morning we couldn’t find them and we were worried. We took the boat and went to look for them. In the fog we saw a strange old ship, The Sonora. Later we discovered that it was an old Spanish pirate ship that was lost at sea in 1608.”

2. screamed : shouted in a very loud way because I was scared.

The Lost Treasure of Bodega Bay

“What? A ship that was lost four hundred years ago!” cried Julie, who stopped eating.

“Yes, it was a ghost ship,” said Kate. “We knew Mom and Dad were on that ship because their lifeboat was there. We were scared but we went onto the ship and we had a terrible surprise. The ship’s crew<sup>3</sup> were all ghosts – ghosts of sailors and pirates. We were terrified because we saw Mom and Dad sitting in a corner. We went to help them, but then the ghost of Captain Salamanca spoke to us. He was terrible: he killed people and they became part of his crew of ghosts. He said he needed a big crew because he was looking for some lost treasure. He wanted to kill us all. Suddenly Lucky jumped on the table and a big candle fell and a fire started. Ghosts are afraid of fire so they moved away and we helped Mom and Dad get off the ship. Before leaving Mike saw Captain Salamanca’s treasure map on the table and took it.”

“What an adventure!” said Julie. “Do you still have the treasure map?”

“Mike has it,” said Kate, “but he hid it because it’s a big secret.”

That afternoon Kate went to the eye doctor with Julie. Dr Lee was a friendly young man. He gave her an eye test and said, “Kate, you need glasses to see things in the distance.”

Julie helped Kate choose her new glasses and she gave them to Dr Lee who said, “Good choice. They’ll be ready on Thursday, Kate.”

3. crew : people who work on a ship.
